4a (Code:) (Expenses $ 225,796 including grants of $ 20,000) (Revenue $)

Through CIH's Flagship program, the Amani Project, we support local nonprofits to provide educaitonal activities and opportunities for young people to embrace music-making and social and emotional learning as a way to explore emotional health, connectedness, and community engagement. We build robust programming that is adapatable for community-based organizations and their communities. We do this by focusing on creative youth development while also weaving together the expertise of local stakeholders across profession, role, gender, and age. We continue to build capacity with our partners and community members to ensure the longevity of our collective impact. We believe the combined power of music-making and emotional learning has the ability to help young people understand and effectively communicate their emotions, and develop the resilience and the skills needed to become action-takers and decision-makers in their communtiies.

Part II Section C Line 17a Children in Harmony (CIH) received 14.24% in public support.

Our activities are charitable in nature. CIH resumed operations after a temporary pandemic-related pause and has since achieved new fundraising momentum. CIHs ongoing efforts include annual giving campaigns and strategies, grant solicitation, and various additional fundraising initiatives. We anticipate further growth in support through these renewed efforts.

Part II Section C Line 17a continued With an unrelated board that serves the broad interest of the public, CIH operates globally to provide music education and social-emotional learning to low-income youth, fostering social skills, self-confidence, and community engagement
